A Handlist of Newspapers Published in Cumberland, Westmorland, and North Lancashire.

1304265

By F. BARNES, B.A., F.L.A. and J. L. HOBBS.

EARLY in 1948 the Reverend J. C. Dickinson, then Editor of Cumberland and Westmorland Transactions, suggested that we should compile a handlist of local newspapers showing the present whereabouts of existing files; the need for such a list has long been felt. Work was commenced at once and was expected to occupy not more than a few months, but the task has proved larger and more difficult than anticipated.

Normally, as a preliminary to such a compilation, information would be sought at the British Museum, but the Newspaper Library was seriously damaged during the last war, thousands of volumes being destroyed. We understand that it will be a considerable time before the exact position is known, and that until then most of the files of provincial newspapers will be inaccessible. A draft list was prepared there-using "The British Museum Catalogue of Newspapers, 1801-1900. 1905," "Handlist of English and Welsh Newspapers . . ." published by The Times in 1920, and such editions of Willing's, Sell's and Hubbard's Press Directories as were available. Copies of this list were circulated to libraries and newspaper offices, and a letter was inserted in the Press, requesting corrections and additional facts. We desire to acknowledge with gratitude the willing co-operation of librarians, editors, and their respective staffs, as well as the invaluable assistance received from a number of private correspondents. In a few cases no details of files held have been supplied by newspapers still extant, and here we assume that either none of any interest are preserved, or possibly that it would be inconvenient for the publishers to make them available to students.

It is unfortunate that such a list as this was not attempted years ago, for it is clear that some particulars formerly available are now lost and our results are far more imperfect than we had hoped. As the known sources of information appear to have been exhausted however, further delay in publishing seems undesirable, for two reasons:—

- (a) During the course of our work it has become painfully obvious that since 1939, over-enthusiastic and ill-directed "salvage" appeals have caused the disappearance of some interesting newspaper files and relevant records. It seems possible that this list will be the means, directly or indirectly, of bringing to the notice of private owners of older newspaper collections the fact that their property may have a local historical interest and should on no account be destroyed without proper examination and advice.

- (b) Further sources of information may be disclosed and reported when the existence of the present list becomes known; the new data, if sufficient, might then form a short additional list for publication at some future time.
